Styled by AnOther Fashion Director Katie Shillingford, we exclusively bring you the Ruth Hogben video that opened the show, alongside a series of photographs from the make-up test depicting the bloodily-daubed St George's crosses that marked model's faces.. After ten years of the brand – and seven years showing in Paris – Gareth Pugh's deeply patriotic A/W15 collection, presented in London to the sound of Sunderland football chants and a Matthew Stone composition, was everything that the city has missed about his work: otherworldly, unnerving and unashamedly brilliant.
